

Dedication

To those whose sand has just begun and to all those whose sand has run out;
and especially to our father, who courageously showed us how to live,
and when it was time, how to die.